DATA DAYS CLE

Data Days CLE 2020, happening April 7th, is the region's only conference focused on accessible data and civic technology for community impact. Data Days CLE gathers civic and industry leaders for a day of learning and action around innovative, local uses of data across a variety of sectors, all with a focus on how data is used for action in social justice, research, and policy. Led by Case Western Reserve University's Center on Urban Poverty and Community Development, we're seeking mission driven partners who want to raise awareness of their own brands, data use, and services, and in doing so, help build a data-driven culture in Northeast Ohio.

Data Days 2019 at-a-glance:

- Nearly 300 attendees
- 14 break-out sessions
- Special Civic Tech announcement from Cuyahoga County
- Keynote from the Associated Press

- Sponsorship by Microsoft, the Cleveland Foundation, Digital C, the George Gund Foundation, the Center for Community Solutions, ESRI, Pandata, and the Siegal Lifelong Learning Program.
